Overview

The Statistics of Income (SOI) Division staff within Research, Applied Analytics, and Statistics provides Calendar Year (CY) projections of information and withholding documents on an annual basis to ensure they reflect recent filing experiences. These documents also incorporate current legislative and administrative initiatives, wherever possible, as well as relevant economic and demographic trends. Selected economic/demographic data used to develop some of these projections are provided by IHS Markit.

The information and withholding document projections contained in this publication are used primarily by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) operational and resource planning functions to assist in formulating their budget submissions and staffing requirements and to complete other analyses. Enacted tax law changes and confirmed administrative plans are reflected in these projections. However, legislative or administrative initiatives under consideration are not included due to the uncertain nature of their eventual outcomes.

Data Sources and Projection Methodology

Three major sets of projections are included in this publication. Table 1 shows a comparison of projections made in 2023 versus 2024 for CY 2025 by all media grand total and paper totals. Table 2 contains projections of all media grand total information and withholding documents in the United States for CY 2024–CY 2032 and received by the IRS for CY 2023. Table 3 includes projections of total paper, and Table 4 includes projections of total nonpaper information and withholding documents in the United States for CY 2024–CY 2032 and received by the IRS for CY 2023. All these projections are at the U.S. level while Tables 5 A–C, in compliance with customer requests, present projections of total paper information and withholding documents at the Austin, Kansas City, and Ogden processing centers for CY 2024–CY 2032 and received by the IRS for CY 2023. However, Currency Transaction Reports for IRS are excluded from Tables 3–5.

Data Sources and 2023 Actual Volumes

Actual data on the volume of IRP documents filed are provided by program staff from the operating divisions and the Information Technology (IT) Applications Development Division. Data sources include: Martinsburg Computing Center (MCC) IRP Reformat Report (405-02-13); Information Returns Master File (IRMF) Report (417-91-40); Combined Annual Wage Reporting (CAWR) W-2 Control Report; Paper IRP Production Report from Service Center Recognition Image Processing System (SCRIPS); other campus sources; and the national CY Currency Transaction Report receipts. Counts for nonpaper Foreign Person's U.S. Source Income Subject to Withholding (Form 1042-S) were provided by relevant program staff from the SOI Division. Nonpaper counts of Foreign Information Returns were provided by Operating Division Program staff from the Large Business and International Division.

U.S.-Level Forecasts

The U.S.-level grand total (all media) projections were forecasted through a combination of time series extrapolations and regression analysis, as well as adjustments for law changes and administrative plans. Each form type was forecasted separately. In some instances, regression models were developed using appropriate economic/demographic variables. In other instances, forecasts for grand total volumes were built from historical time trends. Time trend models were used to forecast the paper IRP document volumes by form type. Projections of most IRP non-paper documents were then derived by subtracting the IRP paper documents from the grand total projections.

The Taxpayer First Act

Section 2102 of the Taxpayer First Act (TFA), enacted on July 1, 2019, required the IRS to establish an online portal by January 1, 2023, for taxpayers to prepare and electronically file the numerous variants of the information return Form 1099. This provision reduces the number of paper Forms 1099 filed starting with CY 2023. To estimate the impact of this provision on the volume of paper returns, diffusion models or logistic decay curves were derived from appropriate economic covariates for some Forms 1099. In addition, adoption rates based on online usage trends of other tax forms were developed and applied.

Section 2301 of the TFA reduced the threshold for payers electronically filing more than 250 certain returns during a calendar year. The IRS and the U.S. Department of the Treasury issued final regulations on February 23, 2023, specified on Treasury Decision 9972, to apply the change to filings required in CY 2024. Specifically, the final regulations reduce the 250-information-return threshold enacted in prior regulations to generally require electronic filing by filers of 10 or more information returns in a calendar year. The final regulations also require e-filing of certain returns and other documents not previously required to be e-filed. Moreover, the final regulations require filers to aggregate almost all information return types covered by the regulation to determine whether a filer meets the 10-return threshold and is required to e-file their information returns. Earlier regulations applied the 250-information-return threshold separately to each type of information return covered by the regulations.

The Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act of 2015

The Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes (PATH) Act, P.L. 114-113, Div. Q, Section 201, accelerated the due date for filing a Form 1099 that includes Nonemployee Compensation (Form 1099-NEC) from February 2028 to January 2031 and eliminated the automatic 30-day extension for forms that include NEC. Beginning with TY 2020, filers should use Form 1099-NEC to report nonemployee compensation, which was previously filed using the Miscellaneous Information (Form 1099-MISC). Projections presented in this document are based on year-to-date CY 2022–CY 2024 filing observations between the Forms 1099-MISC and 1099-NEC, first modeled on an aggregated level, then modeled separately.

Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act

Signed into law on November 15, 2021, Section 80603 of the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act requires brokers to report digital assets. This section also sets the applicable date to January 1, 2023, “in the case of any specified security which is a digital asset” and “shall apply to returns required to be filed after December 31, 2023.” Additionally, the section expanded the definition of “broker” and now includes individuals or entities responsible for “transfers of digital assets on behalf of another person.” Note, the IRS has required individuals and entities to report income from digital assets since 2014 (Notice 2014-21). Since TY 2020, the Form 1040 explicitly asks taxpayers if they traded any virtual currency. These provisions are expected to impact volumes of Proceeds from Broker and Barter Exchange Transactions (Form 1099-B).

In January 2024, IRS announced the transitional guidance under Section 6050I. Under the guidance, businesses can delay reporting transactions of more than $10,000 in digital assets until the IRS and the U.S. Department of the Treasury release formal rules. Therefore, our Form 8300 forecasts in this publication do not factor in the impact of Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act.

American Rescue Plan Act

Payment Card and Third-Party Network Transactions (Form 1099-K) is filed by a payment settlement entity to report payments made in settlement of reportable payment transactions. The American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 changed the reporting threshold of more than 200 transactions per year and exceeding an aggregate amount of $20,000 to a new threshold of $600, regardless of the number of business transactions.

The law, which took effect on January 1, 2023, requires third-party settlement organizations to generate 1099-K forms for taxpayers who receive greater than $600 of income relating to business operations in a single calendar year via these platforms. The first year to be impacted by this law was to be TY 2022, however, the IRS released guidance in December 2022 that delayed the implementation of the lowered threshold by one year, smoothing the transition period to ensure clarity for taxpayers, tax professionals, and industry.

The 1099-K forecasts included in this publication assume that the $600 reporting threshold of The American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 will be in full effect for TY 2023 (CY 2024), as currently planned. This shift will result in a noteworthy increase in the volume of 1099-K returns received by IRS beginning in CY 2024.

In absolute terms, the increase of 1099-K return volume resulting from the new, reduced threshold is estimated to total roughly 20 million over TY 2023 and TY 2024 (CY 2024 and CY 2025). This estimation is based upon observed year-to-date 1099-K return trends, information provided by a few large filers, and information supplied by several states which previously enacted similar changes in reporting thresholds.

CARES Act Provisions Sunset

Under the CARES Act of 2020, Congress paused payments on most outstanding Federal student loans and established a forbearance program through which debtors could cancel outstanding Federal student loan debt. The forbearance provision expired on June 30, 2023, and the student loan payment pause expired on September 1, 2023. With Federal student loan interest now resumed, 1098-E return volumes are expected to increase by roughly 13 million in total during CY 2024 and CY 2025 (TY 2023 and TY 2024), before returning to their historical trend by CY 2026 (TY 2025).

Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) Federal Funds Effective Rate Increases

Beginning in February 2022 and continuing until August 2023, the Federal Reserve Board raised the Federal Funds Effective (FED Funds) Rate to quell rising inflation in the U.S. Economy. There exists an observable, positive correlation between the Federal Reserve Board's prevailing FED Funds Rate and 1099-INT return volumes. As APY increases, more interest income is generated for taxpayers, which is a key driver of 1099-INT return volumes. The 1099-INT projections contained herein are informed by the observed year to date 1099-INT return trends and the historical 1099-INT return volumes during previous periods when the FED Funds Rate exceeded 5.0%.

Campus-Level Forecasts and Impact of Modernization Alignment

The SCRIPS enables IRS campuses to optically scan most paper IRP documents. As a result, the IRS has been consolidating the filing/processing of most of these forms since CY 2007. Starting in CY 2019, the paper Partner's or Shareholder's Share of Income, Deductions, Credits, etc. (Schedule K-1 series) documents have been handled exclusively by the Kansas City and Ogden campuses. The Ogden campus processes paper returns submitted from the international area. Processing of all other information return paper documents was performed in the Austin, Kansas City, and Ogden campuses. In September 2016, the IRS announced plans to further streamline the campus configuration for individual paper return processing by ceasing submission processing operations at the Fresno campus in 2021 and the Austin campus in 2024. However, in February 2022, the IRS announced it would no longer close the Austin campus in 2024.

Table 6 reflects the campus alignment of states/international for processing paper Schedules K-1 and international documents approved in CY 2021. Table 7 shows the alignment of states by campus for processing all other paper documents.

Significant Trends and Revisions

The major trends and other significant factors embedded in the return forecasts for this edition of Publication 6961 are summarized below.

For CY (i.e., filing year) 2025, the grand total number of information and withholding documents projected in this update is about 7.7% (456.9 million forms) more than the total volume projected last year (see Table 1, left side). This net increase is driven by the increase in the projections of Form 1099-B (i.e., 412 million more returns), despite the decrease in the projections of Form 1099-NEC (i.e., 26.4 million fewer returns), the decrease in the projections of Certain Government Payments (Form 1099-G) (i.e., 14 million fewer returns), and the decrease in the projections of Form 1099-K. The lower projections of Form 1099-NEC returns are the result of available additional historical data. Form 1099-NEC was added to this publication's 2022 update.

For paper submissions of information and withholding documents, the estimate produced in 2024 for CY 2025 is about 2.5% (i.e., 459,000 forms) more than the paper volumes projected in last year's update (see Table 1, right side). Embedded in this net change for paper volumes is an update of 692,000 additional returns in the forecasted Annual Summary and Transmittal of U.S. Information Returns (Forms 1096) filed, and nonsignificant decreases of most other paper form types. These results are also based on actual CY 2023 and year to date CY 2024 filing experiences.

[1] Grand Total includes Form 1096 which is a "payer" transmittal document used to transmit "payee" documents.

[2] Currency Transaction Report by Casinos (Form 103) and Currency Transaction Report (Form 104) are no longer processed by the IRS. Effective January 1, 2024, Forms 8300 must be electronically filed (e-filed) if other information returns, such as Forms 1099 series and Forms W-2, are required to be e-filed. Forms 8300 are required to be e-filed if there are at least 10 information returns of 1 or more type(s) other than Form 8300 during a calendar year. The projections provided in this 2024 Publication 6961 only include Total numbers of Form 8300. Future Publication 6961 will provide Form 8300 paper volumes and electronic volumes separately when data become available.

NOTES: Table does not contain counts for Forms 5471, 5472, 8027.

Detail may not add to total due to rounding.

Table Notes

Foreign Information Returns are filed by foreign corporations that pay interest or dividend income to U.S. citizens. There is no standard format for transmitting such information to the IRS.

Foreign Person's U.S. Source Income Subject to Withholding (Form 1042-S) is filed for amounts paid to foreign persons that are subject to withholding, even if no amount is withheld or deducted because of a treaty or Internal Revenue Code (IRC) exception to taxation, or if any amount withheld was repaid to the payee. Amounts subject to withholding are from sources within the U.S. that constitute either fixed or determinable annual or periodic income.

Annual Summary and Transmittal of U.S. Information Returns (Form 1096) is a "payer" transmittal document used to transmit paper "payee" documents.

Bond Tax Credit (Form 1097-BTC) is filed by Regulated Investment Companies and Real Estate Investment Trusts to report tax credit bond credits distributed to shareholders.

Mortgage Interest Statement (Form 1098) is filed to report mortgage interest (including reportable points) of $600 or more received in a trade or business from an individual, including a sole proprietor.

Contributions of Motor Vehicles, Boats, and Airplanes (Form 1098-C) is to be filed by charitable organizations which receive donations of such items made by taxpayers.

Student Loan Interest Statement (Form 1098-E) is to be filed by financial institutions, governmental units, educational institutions, or any other persons who receive (from an individual) student loan interest of $600 or more during the year.

Fines, Penalties, and Other Amounts (Form 1098-F) is submitted by a government entity and certain nongovernmental entities to report each fine, penalty, or other amount that is paid in relation to violation of law or investigation into potential violation of law, pursuant to a court order or agreement.

Qualifying Longevity Annuity Contract Information (Form 1098-Q) is filed by any person who issues a contract intended to be a qualifying longevity annuity contract that is purchased or held under any plan, annuity, or account described in IRC Sections 401(a), 403(a), 403(b), 408 (other than a Roth Individual Retirement Arrangement [IRA]), or eligible governmental plan under Section 457(b).

Tuition Statement (Form 1098-T) is to be filed by educational institutions that received (from an individual) qualified tuition and related expenses each year.

Acquisition or Abandonment of Secured Property (Form 1099-A) is filed for each borrower if money is loaned in connection with a trade or business and in full or partial satisfaction of the debt, an interest in property is acquired that is security for the debt, or the property has been abandoned.

Proceeds from Broker and Barter Exchange Transactions (Form 1099-B) is provided to each person for whom a broker has sold stocks, bonds, commodities, regulated futures contracts, foreign currency contracts, forward contracts, debt instruments, digital assets, etc., or who has exchanged property or services through a barter exchange. Also, certain sales proceeds of Widely Held Fixed Investment Trusts (WHFITs) must now be reported on Form 1099-B.

Cancellation of Debt (Form 1099-C) is filed by certain financial institutions and federal government agencies to report certain debts of $600 or more that are forgiven. This form is not required in situations involving bankruptcies unless the debts were incurred for business or investment purposes.

Changes in Corporate Control and Capital Structure (Form 1099-CAP) is for shareholders of a corporation if control of the corporation was acquired, or it underwent a substantial change in capital structure. Form 1099-CAP is furnished to shareholders who receive cash, stock, or other property from an acquisition of control or a substantial change in capital structure.

Dividends and Distributions (Form 1099-DIV) is provided to each person who: received $10 or more in gross dividends and other stock distributions; had withheld and paid foreign tax on dividends; had withheld income under the backup withholding rules; or received $600 or more as part of a liquidation.

Certain Government Payments (Form 1099-G) is filed when certain payments are made by a unit of federal, state, or local government, such as payments of $10 or more in unemployment compensation including Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) payments for unemployment; refunds, credits, or offsets of state or local income tax of $10 or more; federal income tax withheld (backup withholding); and certain taxable grants.

Health Coverage Tax Credit (HCTC) Advance Payments (Form 1099-H) is filed by providers of qualified health insurance coverage to report advance payments of the HCTC from the U.S. Department of the Treasury on behalf of eligible recipients.

Interest Income (Form 1099-INT) is provided to each person who received $10 or more in interest income; had withheld and paid foreign tax on interest; or had withheld income under the backup withholding rules.

Payment Card and Third-Party Network Transactions (Form 1099-K) is filed by entities for payments made in settlement of reportable payment transactions for each calendar year. Reportable payments include those made with a payment card, such as a credit card or gift card, as well as those that are processed and guaranteed by a third party to a transaction.

Reportable Life Insurance Sale (Form 1099-LS) is used by the acquirer of a life insurance policy to report the acquisition of a life insurance contract, or any interest in a life insurance contract, in a reportable policy sale.

Long-Term Care and Accelerated Death Benefits (Form 1099-LTC) is filed if payments are made for any long-term care benefits, including accelerated death benefits. Payers include insurance companies, governmental units, and viatical settlement providers.

Miscellaneous Income (Form 1099-MISC) is provided to each person who: received at least $10 in royalties or broker payments in lieu of dividends or tax-exempt interest; received at least $600 in rents, services, prizes, and awards, other income payments, and medical and health care payments; or received any fishing boat proceeds. In addition, Form 1099-MISC is also used to report the direct sales of at least $5,000 of consumer products to a buyer for resale. Persons with backup withholdings should also receive a copy of the form regardless of the amount of payment. Starting with CY 2013, Form 1099-MISC includes withholding by government entities.

Nonemployee Compensation (Form 1099-NEC) is filed for each person who is paid at least $600 during the year for services performed and is not an employee. Discontinued since 1983, Form 1099-NEC was renewed in TY 2020 to clarify certain reporting deadlines and requirements previously filed under 1099-MISC.

Original Issue Discount (Form 1099-OID) is provided among others by issuers of outstanding bonds or other evidence of indebtedness in registered or bearer form issued with an original issue discount of at least $10; issuers of some certificates of deposit of over one year; certain financial institutions having other deposit arrangements such as time deposits or bonus savings plans with a term in excess of one year; issuers of collateralized debt obligation; real estate mortgage investment conduits; and trustees or middlemen of WHFITs and Widely Held Mortgage Trusts. It is also filed if there are backup withholdings, even though the amount of the original issue discount is less than $10.

Taxable Distributions Received from Cooperatives (Form 1099-PATR) must be filed by cooperatives for each person to whom the cooperative has paid at least $10 in patronage dividends and other distributions or for backup withholdings regardless of the amount of payment.

Payments from Qualified Education Programs (Under Sections 529 and 530) (Form 1099-Q) is a result of legislation which expanded the definition of a qualified tuition program to include programs established and maintained by private eligible educational institutions. Reporting of earnings from qualified state tuition programs (as described in the IRC, Section 529) was moved from Box 5 of Form 1099-G to Form 1099-Q.

Distributions from Pensions, Annuities, Retirement or Profit-Sharing Plans, IRAs, Insurance Contracts (Form 1099-R) is provided to each person who has received distributions from profit sharing or retirement plans, IRAs, annuities, pensions, etc., whether any amount of federal income tax was withheld.

Proceeds from Real Estate Transactions (Form 1099-S) is filed to report the sale or exchange of reportable real estate.

Distributions From an HSA, Archer MSA, or Medicare Advantage MSA (Form 1099-SA) is filed to report distributions made from a Health Savings Account (HSA), Archer Medical Savings Account (MSA), or Medicare Advantage MSA. The distribution may have been paid directly to a medical service provider or to the account holder. A separate return must be filed for each plan type.

Seller's Investment in Life Insurance Contract (Form 1099-SB) is filed by the issuer of a life insurance policy to report the seller's investment in the contract and surrender amount with respect to a life insurance contract transferred in a "reportable policy sale" or transferred to a foreign person.

Exercise of an Incentive Stock Option Under Section 422(b) (Form 3921) is filed for certain stock transfers occurring after 2009. The filing of this information return is required by Section 6039, as amended by the Tax Relief and Health Care Act of 2006 (Public Law 109-432). Use Form 3921 to report a corporation's transfer of stock pursuant to an employee's exercise of an incentive stock option described in Section 422(b).

Transfer of Stock Acquired Through an Employee Stock Purchase Plan Under Section 423(c) (Form 3922) is used to report a transfer of stock by an employee where the stock was acquired pursuant to the exercise of an option described in Section 423(c).

IRA Contribution Information (Form 5498) is filed for each person who had an individual retirement arrangement to report contributions and the fair market value of the account.

Coverdell ESA Contribution Information (Form 5498-ESA) reports contributions (including rollovers) to a Coverdell Education Savings Account.

HSA, Archer MSA, or Medicare Advantage MSA Information (Form 5498-SA) is submitted by the trustee or custodian of a HSA, Archer MSA, or Medicare Advantage MSA (MA MSA). Rollovers from one Archer MSA to another Archer MSA and receipt of a rollover from an Archer MSA or an HSA to an HSA must be reported.

Report of Cash Payments Over $10,000 Received in a Trade or Business (Form 8300) is a currency transaction report filed by a person engaged in a trade or business who receives more than $10,000 in cash in one transaction or in two or more related transactions during the course of that trade or business.

Social Security Benefit Statement (Form SSA-1099)/Payments by the Railroad Retirement Board (Form RRB-1099) are filed by the Social Security Administration (SSA) and the RRB to show the amount of retirement payments made to individual recipients. These documents are received by the IRS from the SSA.

Wage and Tax Statement (Form W-2) is filed by employers for each employee on the payroll to report wages, tips, other compensation, withheld income taxes, Social Security, and Medicare taxes. W-2 documents are received from the SSA.

Certain Gambling Winnings (Form W-2G) is provided to recipients of gambling winnings of $600 or more from horse racing, dog racing, jai alai, lotteries, sweepstakes, and drawings; gambling winnings of $1,200 or more from bingo or slot machines; gambling winnings of $1,500 or more from keno; and winnings in excess of $5,000 from a poker tournament. The amount of winnings may be reduced by the wager, depending on the gambling activity.

Beneficiary's Share of Income, Credits, Deductions etc. (Schedule K-1, Form 1041) is filed with Form 1041 to report the beneficiary's share of income from an estate or trust.

Partner's Share of Income, Credits, Deductions, etc. (Schedule K-1, Form 1065) is used by filers of Form 1065 to report each partner's share of the partnership's income, credits, deductions, etc.

Shareholder's Share of Income, Credits, Deductions, etc. (Schedule K-1, Form 1120-S) is used by filers of Form 1120-S to report each shareholder's pro rata share of corporate income (less taxes the corporation paid on income), credits, deductions, etc.
